Diamondhead Questers Report

April 16, 2016

The Diamondhead Questers enjoyed a variety of interesting and informative programs this year. In September, we traveled to Smackover, AR to tour the Arkansas Museum of Natural Resources. The club members agreed it was one of the best museums we've visited.

There was perfect weather for our Lake Catherine boat trip in October. The Park service conducted the pontoon tour and provided a historical account of the lake as well as points of interest such as the Harvey Couch home and work done by prisoners of WW11 and the WPA.

We took a two-day trip to Eureka Springs, AR in November. Our group stayed in the Crescent Hotel and were given a tour of the historic building along with their famous ghost tour and tour of downtown including the history of the city.

We celebrated the Christmas season in December with our annual luncheon and dirty Santa gift exchange.

In January, we celebrated Thirty-Five Years of Diamondhead Questers. President Pam McAllister gave a brief historical account of Founder Bess Bardens. Past President Uta Brace detailed the history of our permanent P&R project at the gravesite on the #10 fairway of Diamondhead Golf Course. Past President Linda Hunter discussed additional P&R projects our club has completed over the years.

February found us in downtown Hot Springs to see the Gangster Museum. In March, our trip to Old Washington State Park was cancelled due to pouring rain, however we gathered at the Diamondhead 19th Hole for lunch and a program of show – and – tell. Members brought some of their antiques and treasurers and shared stories with the group.

In May, we look forward to installing new officers at the Old Mill in North Little Rock after a guided tour of that beautiful spot. This will end our program year as we take our Summer break. We will once again begin our Questing in September.
